3D Builder

Creating your own custom sports kit just got easier.

Open the 3D builder and select your sport

Along with the design template you'd like to use and start customising.

Then, choose the patterns and colours that suit your team most.

Think about the season, your competition, your logo colours and most importantly your teammates and supporters. Consider adding sponsors, crests and badges.

When you're happy with your design, just fill in a request form.

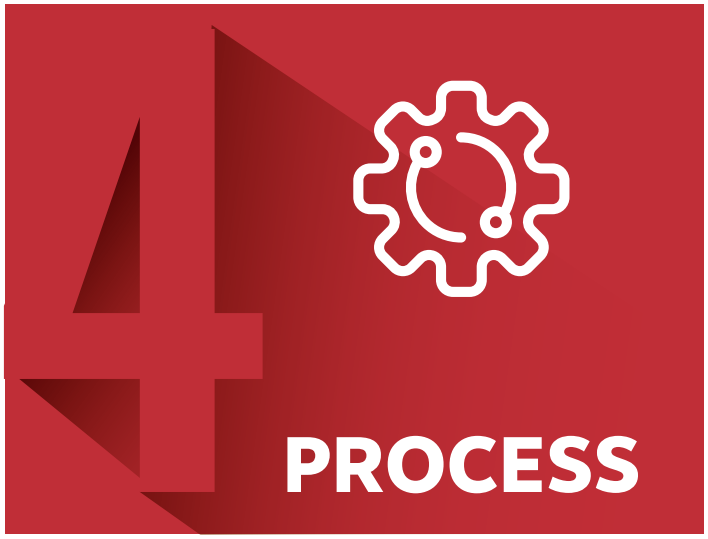

Let us know how many of you there are. Will you need uniform suitable for all weather conditions? Is your match day kit the same as your regular kit? We want to make sure we share the same vision, and that you're choosing the most suitable options for you and your teammates.

3D Process

If there are any changes to your design, sponsors or information about your order, this is the last opportunity to do so before we start the manufacturing process.

You have a choice between two different processes. The preferred option, sublimation, is a process where dye is injected directly into your chosen premium materials, which ensure longevity, without fading or peeling. We do have cut and sew options too!

When everything's approved, we'll pass your designs onto our factory team, who will get to work with your new kit.

After your order's been passed on to the factory team, we'll be sure to update you on its status as much as we possibly can. Sometimes, production times can vary, depending on the size of the order and the process you've chosen to manufacture with.

Once things are up to scratch, we'll send your custom kit over for you and your team to enjoy!

We'll carry out one final round of Quality Checks. Once we're sure that you'll be happy with your kit, we'll send it over to you as soon as we can.

Sublimation

What Is Sublimated Printing?

Here at My Club we're proud to say that most of the custom sports kit we produce is coloured & detailed using full sublimation printing. But, what does that actually mean?

Sublimation is a scientific term that describes the process of a solid material being converted directly into a gas state, skipping the 'liquid' phase entirely. This is the exact process that makes sublimation printing different to traditional vinyl heat transfer.

Traditional heat-transfer textile printing involves choosing a base clothing item in the desired colour, then applying logos or other design details to a layer of vinyl or other material, which is then transferred onto the clothing using heat and pressure.

Heat Transfer VS Sublimation

Standard heat-transfer printing can be applied to any clothing or material, and can often be a little cheaper than sublimating because there are more suppliers available. However, the logos and designs applied using this method are far less durable, making it undesirable for personalised sports kit and custom training kit which needs to survive more rigorous use than normal clothing.

Full sublimation printing works using heat & pressure in a similar way, but rather than transfer the design to a layer sitting on top of the material, the dyes are vaporised and propelled into the actual fabric of the clothing so that the colours become a part of the material itself, on a molecular level.

Print On Fabric

Sublimated designs will never crack or peel and can be applied to the entire garment, this allows for more extravagant all-over patterns. It works on polyester based materials, but that's what make sublimation so ideal for custom sport kits & personalised football kit; where all-over designs are standard and polyester is the material of choice due to it's robust durability & natural moisture-wicking capability.

So, in case your weren't already, now you are an expert on sports kit printing!

LEGACIES
mitre

Standard

Comfy. Performs when it counts. Looks great too.

Pro

A soft, cotton-like, small jacquard fabric with a pindot appearance, which stretches in all directions. Great for moving around in! Goalie kit comes in an interlock fabric, which is a little bit more durable.

Elite

Made of thick, scuba material, which lasts even longer than our other garments! We also offer velcro patches when it makes sense, for sports such as Netball. Be sure to get in touch should this be of interest!

Premium

Our premium range is the most breathable, moisture-wicking and looks top-notch. A staple for your team's kit. Offered in a pin-dot and interlock fabric.

Smart Tech Fabric

Mix-and-match for the win! A blend of fabrics is often best for most garments. These will usually include a mesh, plus a lightweight polyester for the best breathability and stretch!

Breathe Easy

No more overheating! These fabrics let your skin chill, reducing the chances of you getting too warm at that match point moment.

Stretch

Flex your way through any sport. The tougher the moves, the stretchier the gear. This feature's a necessity when the sport requires a snug fit with a high range of movement.

Durable

Most resistant to wear and tear - popular amongst the contact sport community!

Featherlight

Beat the heat with cool, sweat-wicking tech. Pulls the moisture from your skin, perfect for those scorching Summer game days.
